STATE GARDEN CLUBS HIGH IN PRAISE OF HOSPITALITY AT BAY CITY

Luncheon Given by Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Declared One of High Spots in Delightful Coast Visit of Mississippi Federation of Garden Clubs.

Approximately 125 were guests Saturday of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce at luncheon at The Answer, these being delegates to the first annual convention of Garden Clubs of Mississippi. The delegates were high in praise of the hospitality accorded them while on the Coast than which none was finer than that of the Bay St. Louis people. On schedule time the cars bearing the official markers arrived at the bridge and were met by Mayor Chas. Traub Sr., member of the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce, Chas. G. Moreau, general chairman of the garden club's visit, treasurer and member of the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard, chairman of the reception committee and others. Led by Traffic Policeman Son Capicpon the motorcade was led along Union avenue to the high school where the planting on the campus was noted and the fine cedars commented upon, thence eastward on Carroll Avenue past the A. A. Krososin home where many blooming geraniums filled the porch, and the first stop was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, where Mr. Moreau showed the visitors "Mrs. Moreau's" garden explaining that the garden in its present planting is but two years old and showing the excellent collection of evergreens found here. Mrs. Moreau presented to all several pansies and honey jonquils as souvenirs.

Walking across the street to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Val Yare, the beautifully planted garden here was much admired. Again taking to the cars the party went to the home of Mrs. E. J. Leonhard on North Beach Boulevard where the extensive planting of Easter lilies were especially interesting. Mrs. Leonhard showed the beautiful colored photographs of the Easter lilies taken when they were in bloom last spring. The fourth visit was to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ellsworth Kenney of North Beach Boulevard where roses and pansies were the special attraction of the garden. As the motorcade passed the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Bangard attention was called to this interesting garden. The Answer had prepared for less than 100 guests but when the large crowd arrived was equal to the occasion and served all. The tables were prettily decorated with wistaria and bridal wreath and a dainty luncheon menu was served.

Mr. Moreau presided at the luncheon as toast master. Geo. R. Tea, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Adair Ewin of Gulfport, president of the Gulfport Garden Club and first vice-president of the State federation, responded expressing the appreciation of the Coast in this honor from the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. F. H. Crisler of Jackson, was the speaker of the occasion, chiding to discuss highway and community planting. This was especially appropriate to Bay St. Louis in view of the project of the Chamber of Commerce in city beautification and the work of the county schools in beautifying the highway approaches to the schools. Her suggestions were of much value.

After luncheon the drive led (Continued on page 8)

Ladners Must Face Assault to Kill Charge.

Gulfport.—An affidavit charging Ellis Ladner and Chris Ladner, residents of a Wolf river settlement about twenty miles northwest of Gulfport with "assault to kill" was filed according to County Prosecuting Attorney D. M. Graham Jr. The hearing will be set later.

The charges are the outgrowth of a shooting affray near the Ladner home Wednesday night, March 19 when the two Ladner brothers are said to have fired several volleys of buckshot into the automobile of Cleveland Shaw, parked on the roadside.

I. W. Smith and Mrs. Clara Cuevas, occupants of the car, were struck by buckshot which necessitated medical treatment at a Poplarville hospital where the woman is still confined, it was said.

Shaw was not injured. After having the shot removed from his arm and face, Smith left the hospital and accompanied Edward Van Zandt, a Harrison county deputy sheriff to the scene of the shooting.

The two brothers claim they were roused from their sleep by a noise near the chicken house and upon investigating discovered some one fleeing across the field. They admitted the shooting, but claim they opened fire only after the occupants of the car shot first.

The Ladner brothers surrendered to county authorities and were released on $500 bond each.

COACH PERKINS OF S. S. C. IS SPEAKER BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Tells of Trip to Catholic National Tournament at Chicago—Pays Tribute—Chicago's Hospitality.

Grady H. Perkins, St. Stanislaus college coach, was principal speaker before the Bay City Rotary Club Wednesday noon, by invitation, to tell of the trip and contest by the basketball team of S. S. C. to Chicago where the annual basketball tournament of Catholic schools took place.

He said while the team did not win he held no alibi, but the cause of their not excelling their contestants was easily explained by the fact the local collegians had no tournament experience nor practice; that the boys while physically fit were in no mental attitude. All other teams, he said, were runners up in regional meets and contests and only the winners from these various district and state contests were the ones to go to Chicago. On the other hand, he continued, our boys had entered no contests of the kind, simply playing individual teams from time to time. He paid tribute to the sportsmanship of the Stanislaus basketeers. Also to Chicago's hospitality.

Coach Perkins made a splendid talk, and the opinion is expressed that if the trip did nothing else it developed Grady into a fluent and splendid speaker. His talk was splendid and won comment from visiting Rotarians and other guests.

President McDonald announced that the election of a new board of directors was at hand and also new officers were to be elected. R. N. Blaize was the author of a motion, which carried, that all members of the club be nominated for the election to directors.

The subject of ladies night was not announced, as had been intended, but it is expected plans and possibly part of the program, as well as a selected date, will be announced next Wednesday. The coming to Bay St. Louis of Gulf Park college's Glee Club for the end of April was announced and this date will be anticipated.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY SAYS JAIL IS IN BAD CONDITION

Hancock Grand Inquisitors Interrogate Ninety Witnesses—Find Ten True Bills.

With August Ruhr as foreman and J. E. Howze, clerk, the grand jury impaneled for the March term circuit court of Hancock county, after a session of five days gave their report to the Hon. W. A. White, circuit judge, as follows, in which special stress is made for an amelioration of the condition of the county jail:

We, the Grand Jury, duly impaneled and sworn to inquire in and for the March Term, 1930, of the Circuit Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, beg leave to respectfully submit the following as our final report:

We listened with great interest and profit to your honor's able charge. We have been in session five days. We have interrogated 95 witnesses and return 10 True Bills.

We have endeavored to inquire into all of those matters about which your Honor charged us, as well as into all other violations of the law.

We have investigated the books of the various County officials and to the best of our knowledge and belief the same have been properly kept.

We have examined the County jail and we find the same in a deplorable condition. In our opinion this is not due to the lack of attention by those in charge of the jail, but is rather due to the lack of substantial repairs which the jail needs.

It is our understanding that the Board of Supervisors are contemplating the construction of a new jail. But pending this we think that some needed repairs should be made, and especially with reference to the plumbing; and we earnestly recommend to the proper authorities that this matter receive immediate attention.

We have also examined the poorhouse and find the same properly kept and in good condition.

And now having finished our labors we respectfully ask to be kindly discharged.

Specializing in Swiss movements, he will give personal attention to repairing and regulating timepieces of every description; clocks, bracelet watches, split seconds, chronographs —none being too fine or intricate of movement for his attention.

Watches and clocks will be examined without charge. If the reader has a grandfather's hall clock, he will call at the owner's home and inspect it without charge. There are in many homes in Bay St. Louis and vicinity antique pieces, Sevres or bronze clocks and others of the French periods which need only to be cleaned and repaired to be useful again—and Mr. Bynum can advise.

FRIGIDAIRE INSTALLED IN GROCERY

Coast Serve Self Grocery No. 3, Has New Butter Box, Meat Counter and Vegetable Table

Extensive refrigeration apparatus including new butter box and new meat counter, and a handsome new vegetable rack are being installed at the Coast Serve Self Grocery No. 3, on North Beach Boulevard, and additional screening space is to be arranged at the rear of the store for the market.

The new type of vegetable rack was installed Friday of last week and has created much interest because of the patented method in which five sprays throw the thinnest of streams of water like a mist over the vegetables and keeps them fresh. The green tops of carrots for example are kept for days as fresh as when pulled and this is true of all types of vegetables placed here.

This vegetable spray table is said to be one of two on the Coast, the other being at Coast Serve Self Grocery No. 1 in Gulfport. It is made by the Lane Vegetable Spray Company, Inc. of Dallas.

A large refrigerator has been placed at the rear of the store to be used for butter, cheese and like products and a new meat counter will replace the present one. Both will be refrigerated by a Frigidaire electric ice machine. They are to be installed and connected up Sunday and ready for use Monday. The market is to be encased in a different type of screen.

R. B. Koch, manager of the store, is highly pleased with the new improvements which are being made and invites the public to visit the store and inspect them.

BROUGHT HERE AND PLACED IN JAIL

Michael Rogers, who was convicted in a justice's court here some time ago and who failed to appear at the last term of circuit court to which his case has been appealed, was brought here from New Orleans several days ago by Deputy Sheriff Albert Jones. It is reported that Rogers has been in Central American waters and that he returned to New Orleans telling of a desperate struggle with hunger, storms and high seas in which he was almost lost in the small boat in which he attempted the trip. He returned to New Orleans on the steamship Ceiba. He had left aboard his gasoline launch Alice across the Gulf of Mexico. When he did not appear at the last court his case was dismissed on a writ of procredo and he will now have to answer the findings of the lower court.

REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SUPREME K. OF C. VISITOR MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST

Col. M. J. O'Leary Visits Bay St. Louis, Gulfport and Hattiesburg This Week In Interest of Insurance Changes And Rulings—Reports Organization In Interest Of Boys' Work.

M. J. O'Leary, representative of the Supreme Council, Knights of Columbus, is visiting three Mississippi Councils, during the present week explaining several improvements in the insurance laws of the Order which were voted at the last Supreme Convention and to outline the boys' work program which is now the major peacetime welfare activity of the order.

Col. O'Leary is one of several special representatives who provide a contact between the headquarters of the order here and the more than 2,000 subordinate councils in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines.

He arrived in Bay St. Louis Thursday of this week and was the guest of Pere Le Duc Council. To-day Friday, he will visit Bishop Gunn Council in Gulfport, and on March 30, he will meet the officers and members of Hattiesburg Council in Hattiesburg.

One of the changes on which Col. O'Leary will report is that which permits a member to borrow against his insurance equity for the purpose of paying assessments. Another is the classification of occupations and the removal of several of them from the extra-hazardous list. The insurance in force of the order as of June 30 was $278,235,306 and the insurance liabilities as calculated by the actuaries on January 1 were $21,493,574. The ratio of margin of safety of assets to liabilities was 131.51 per cent. All changes in the law were made on the advice of the order's actuaries.

In connection with the boy welfare program, Col. O'Leary will report on the Columbian Squires (junior order of the Knights of Columbus) ten-night courses in "Boyology" for all men and the Knights of Columbus foundation at Notre Dame which trains graduates in boy guidance and leads to an M. A. degree.

During the course of a year, the representative of the Supreme Council travel thousands of miles in order to meet the officers and members of each council. They offer suggestions and advice in the conduct of council matters and in turn receive suggestions and information beneficial to the order at large.

FUNNIEST PICTURE OF UNIVERSAL'S SERIES COMING

The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" is the fourth and funniest of Universal's hilarious series involving the adventures of the two best-loved and laughed at filmland families.

Cohen and Kelly, whose adventures in New York, Paris and London have tickled millions, ignorant of one another's plans, across the Atlantic to the land of the bagpipe with designs upon the plaid business.

Kilt-clad and comical, they stumble into a host of uproarious experiences culminating in the determination to commit suicide because their fortunes have been lost. How this works out is the comedy high-spot of the production.

Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Kelly, of course add to the difficulties of the drill partners.

"The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" again unites the original Cohen and Kelly, George Sidney and Charlie Murray who celebrate their reunion by topping all their previous efforts.

Vera Gordon and Kate Price portray the respective wives. E. J. Ratcliffe, William Colvin and Lloyd Whitlock also have important roles.

This picture will be at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday with more laughs than there are Scotch jokes.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

S. J. A. Observes St. Joseph's Feast.

March the 19th is always a big day for the girls of S. J. A. Why shouldn't it be? When it is the feast day of their Patron Saint. The day was started off by Mass and Holy Communion which the whole student body attended one hundred per cent strong. The Mass was sung by the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Their sweet voices delighted all who heard them pronounce the difficult words of the Latin ritual.

Following the Mass the girls assembled at the Convent to wish their teachers a Happy Feast. Members of the classes presented their respective gifts to Mother and the Sisters. The High School girls offering was a miniature basket ball which contained a check for $20 for the new gym. The seventh and eighth grades gave an "ice cream treat" while the third and fourth grades presented a cake and fruits.

Mother and the Sisters were delighted with these tokens from their girls and wish to tell them again how much they appreciate their thoughtfulness and that of the many other kind friends who helped to make the day so delightful.

Class '29 especially showed themselves still mindful of their teachers and sent a telegram and cake to prove that they still thought of S. J. A. and the Sisters.

What's The Big Idea?

Why no more smuggling of detectable east under coats, hats, even in boots etc.? (at 10 o'clock)

Have you gone so far as to declare bankruptcy or have your proud adventurous spirits been quelled by the domination of teachers? Won't you let your fellow class mates in on it, or do you intend to arouse their curiosity and not satisfy it? Surely you aren't that cruel.

We've heard rumors of thrift, and to back it clinking of nickels and dimes in a bank. Are you saving for the end of Lent to rejoice in a big feast or, I ask you, could you be so generous as to buy a pagan baby?

STANISLAUS COLLEGE ECHOES

Tuesday night the team returned from Chicago. Everybody was glad to see the boys and although no trophies were brought back their welcome was as happy and joyful as anyone could wish. We did not win the tournament but everybody will agree with us that our team showed the people in Chicago how good sports fight. Listen team! we are just as proud of you even though you lost and we would be willing to stake you to Chicago again with perfect confidence that you would win.

Bro. Casimir and our Coach Perkins must not be forgotten. They were really and truly missed about here. Now we have them back and after wiping away the memory of "that" defeat we'll get to work and achieve some victories in baseball and track.

We Wonder:

How C. Genard got the balloons? Why the team is interested in silverware?

What happened to Bull's ring? Why Ducas was afraid? What happened to Crow's sweater? Why Torrino likes Sue best? Why Willis Foster likes mellow cigarettes?

We Wonder Why?

The scientific students are called lucky?

Toga is glad to be back?

Wallace became a day student?

Johnson stopped singing?

O'Brien is so strong and manly?

"Bull" Blaize complains of a weight upon his left hand?

LeBoeuf is famous for breaking stones?

Speedy wanted Jasper to go to the finals?

Brandt enjoyed the past week?

Lech enjoyed picking stones?

Dalton became so tough while in Chicago?

James treats people so rough?

Wolf is trying to out-grow Richard?

Lyons is walking on air.

Who's Girl?

Her hair is like a horse's mane?

Knotted and burred, and never tamed.

Her eyes are gray in a funny way.

It seems as if they fade away.

Her nose is pig, and points up high.

Her mouth is large, and lips bright red,

Whenever you kiss her beware of your head.

Her ears are large and flabby too.

As water wings they'd "finely do."

Her neck is long and not so white.

It seems as though it were on a diet.

Her shoulders droop, her waist is small,

Her body resembles the hat rack, in the hall,

Her legs are long and slightly bowed,

Her feet are large, and she's pigeon-toed.

Take all in all, and cash it in,

She's a fine girl for the shape she's in.

Spick and Span Would Like to Know?

Who Joe Hardner has been writing to?

Why Cielina likes to read "How Basketball is Played?"

Why Angelo is called "Primo?"

The tournament to determine the champions of the Little Yard came to a close last Saturday night. Jimmy Dam lead his team to a thrilling victory over "Cigar" Lang. Everyone on the winning team played bang-up ball. Team work was the dominant factor of the victory. The winning team it composed of Dam, Blaize, Delcorio, Sandzo, Combe and Richard. The outstanding players of the losers were Bourgeois and in.

FOR OUR KING.

Come on girls let's go to Mass

Souls let us save for "Him"

The season of Lent will quickly pass

Now is the time to do penance for sin.

The girls of S. J. A. we are sure

Have a special place in His Sacred Heart

Make haste girls don't resist the lure

To frequent the church of which He is part.

Let's make a date with that loveable King.

And join in the praises of which all sing

Seniors, Juniors, Freshmen and Sophomores

Show that you're true to your King to the core.

A New One Called A "Social Mending Party."

Although the boarders could not go on their weekly walk because of the rainy weather Saturday, they held a social tete-a-tete, a little mending party over which Mother Claire presided. It does not seem natural because no more elbows and heels are sticking out. Oh! Well! Life has its "ins" and "outs."

After being convicted on charges of grafting and bribery and given a prison sentence of three years and fined $4,000, Harry York, an Atlanta, Ga., council man, has resigned, threatening impeachment proceedings against him. Some dozen or more of Atlanta's city hall officials are to go on trial on like charges and York is quite likely to have plenty company while serving his term behind the bars.

The news from Los Angeles is that Jack Dempsey has decided to go into training in order to return to the ring. The story goes that he has selected his training camp and is interested to observe that the site is a spot in lower California where some of Dempsey's friends are building huge pleasure resorts with many features that are taboo on this side of the boundary line. The news definitely states that the former champion will come back into the ring in Chicago sometime this fall and there is a report that he may become re-connected to his former manager, Jack Kearns.

As far as we are concerned the above is a bunch of hokum. We do not believe that Dempsey will come back to fight, nor do we believe that he can hope to win against two or three opponents we might name. That Dempsey would get a huge purse is assured whenever he wants it but that he will be champion again is outside. However, the "come back" propaganda will not hurt the new pleasure resort, which will get plenty of publicity, and, besides, Dempsey's career on the stage, will not be harmed by his getting into the news headlines.

On his recent trip out to the Pacific coast the Hon. Calvin Coolidge was asked by a newspaper reporter if he was going to be a candidate for the White House next time. Cool, cautions, calculating Cal sternly replied: "You know you have no right to ask me that question." While The Echo has no special admiration for Mr. Coolidge as a chief executive, it has none at all for the gentleman now occupying the White House who has demonstrated most conclusively that he is a round peg in a square hole.

Lord Balfour, veteran British statesman, died at his country estate near London on the 19th. He was eighty-one years of age.

The Democrats up in the State of Maine have adopted a plank in their campaign platform calling for prohibition's "strictest enforcement." Wonder if they mean it or are really sincere?

Two white hooded bandits held up and robbed two bank messengers and got away with the $700 Sunday collection of the Mater Dolorosa Catholic church in New Orleans as it was being carried to a bank for deposit last Monday morning.

The Smoot-Hawley tariff bill was passed in the United States senate on Monday last by a vote of 53 to 31. The measure was denounced by those opposing its passage as the worst ever written, they claiming that it will saddle a burden of approximately one billion dollars on American consumers over and above the rates imposed by the present tariff.

A few days since over in St. Tammany parish, just across Pearl River, federal prohibition officers captured a Baptist preacher while he was operating a moonshine still. Perhaps the reverend thought manufacturing bootleg liquor was a more profitable business than preaching the gospel without realizing that it was also a more dangerous business.

In 1901 there were 76,945 postoffices in the United States while the latest report gives only 49,482, and the number is still decreasing at the rate of nearly 1,000 a year. The establishment of rural free delivery enables central offices to cover larger areas for the distribution of mail and the automobile which enables people to drive further for their mail may doubtless explain why there is no longer need for so many offices.

It would seem that the Republican party is about due to make a change in the chairmanship of its national executive committee, and Mr. Claudius Huston, will be asked to resign before very long. His activities as a lobbyist in the Muscle Shoals investigation is not at all creditable and his party chieftains realize that with him as chairman of the committee bodes no good to the G. O. P. in the coming congressional elections.

And now comes along Dr. M. E. Winchester of the Georgia State board of health who declares there's no such thing as "spring fever." He says "It's tradition, or something, that went out with hoop skirts." All the same we know that the urge to go to the woods on balmy days is inherent in most folks, married men especially, when wives most need them to assist in spring house and yard cleaning.

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger asserts that "by no stretch of the imagination can the Mississippi legislature be blamed for the sorbid failure of the administration." We are not so sure of that. There is a joint responsibility which both the executive and legislative branches must share equally. A majority of the people of the State have long since placed the blame on the pig-headedness of both Bilbo and law-makers.

A young lady waitress in a Jackson cafe was awarded $15,000 by a supreme court decision in a slander suit, week before last, and since that time she has been fairly deluged with letters from men all over the country containing proposals of marriage. The Echo knows a number of fellows who wouldn't hesitate a moment to propose marriage to the little girl if they had any hope that she would accept.

Edward L. Doheney, multi-millionaire oil man, has been acquitted on the charge of having bribed former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall in obtaining the famous Elk Hills oil lease. Fall was convicted of acceptance of the $100,000 bribe from Doheney, and yet a jury acquits the latter. If the latter is innocent of the charge of giving a bribe certainly the other man cannot be guilty of the charge of accepting the money as a bribe. It is just another case where juries took opposite views, and the public is left to render its verdict on the question of which jury was right in its conclusion.

Announcement has been made that contracts have been signed in New York by prominent financial and aircraft interests in the United States and Europe for the establishment of a lighter-than-air line for mail and passengers across the Atlantic. The announcement set no definite date for the beginning of the trans-Atlantic service but said that actual preparation and organization of the service would take place this year. It is planned to build the airships in both this country and abroad. D. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Rubber Company, is president of the International Zeppelin Transport Company, which will operate the service.

BANKING TENDENCIES.

The merging of three of the greatest banks in New York City, with a combined capitalization of more than two billion dollars, is a matter worthy of thought and consideration by the public. There is scarcely a week that passes that we do not read of the merging of great business enterprises, and if it continues competition in every line of business endeavor will be wiped out. When that time comes it means a complete and absolute monopoly in the control of a few concerns throughout the country.

The Echo believes that the Mobile Register was eminently correct when it said in a recent editorial:

In an address in Maine, Representative Henry B. Steagall, of Alabama, warned against the peril of certain banking tendencies in the country, tendencies which point unmistakably toward the possible monopolistic control of the banking resources of the nation. In view of recent great consolidations in banking circles the warning comes none too soon. It may be that these banking mergers, like other big mergers, are logical evolutions; for we seem to be tending toward a kind of regulated collectivism in all spheres of American life, a collectivism which, in some instances, is not easily distinguished from monopoly, a fact which makes stricter regulation not only necessary, but imperative."

It is the duty of the congress to give this important matter prompt attention, and enact such legislation as will effectively check the tendency to monopolize the business of the country and put control of banking as well as every other business in the hands of a few gigantic corporations.

OIL FOUND IN MISSISSIPPI.

Sure-enough, honest-to-goodness oil has at last been found in wells drilled in Hinds and Rankin counties, and there is a brisk business going on there, expert oil men from all sections of the country flocking there to secure leases on land in that territory. Excitement is at a high pitch and it will probably continue for some time to come.

Up to this time writing it has not been demonstrated that in either well there exists a sufficient flow of the "black gold" to make gushers of them, as neither well has been developed to the point where they could be allowed to flow freely, as every precaution has to be exercised from the moment the drill penetrates the oil strata and the first showing of the fluid found.

Geologists have long predicted the existence of oil beneath the earth in Mississippi, and only last week some of the most eminent members of that profession met in New Orleans and several of them expressed their firm conviction that the coastal section of our State was undoubtedly the most promising area as the next great oil producing section of the entire country, predicting its early discovery and a development of the oil industry such as has never been known.

The Echo has much faith in the prediction made by geologists, as it would indeed be a kind freak of nature if of all the States Mississippi did not possess any mineral wealth at all.

NO SCANDALS IN THOSE DAYS.

Mississippians whose memory goes back to the days when John M. Stone, Robert Lowry and A. H. Longino occupied the office of chief executive of our great State have just cause to be proud of how those great and patriotic men looked after the interests of their people. No single instance can be recalled of any official or private act of those men which was not in strict accord with every rule of honor and highest principles. Under their wise and efficient management there was always money in the State treasury to meet every obligation of the government from year to year and the tax rate was never more than 6 to 6 1-2 mills. At the same time it may also be recalled that Stone, Lowry and Longino were nominated and elected as governor before the primary election system was adopted for making nominations for office.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

The inability to find work presents a man or woman with a terrible problem if either have their own care and that of others dependent upon their incomes.

The present unemployment of several million American workers is a matter which should receive serious attention. Considerable human humiliation and suffering is wrapped up in such bare statistics.

The head of the family, with hungry mouths to feed and bodies to clothe, has a heart-breaking calamity when he loses his job, and can't find a new one to replace it. Only charity or credit can help him prevent deplorable tragedies.

During such times of stress every citizen able to render assistance should offer it, both as a patriotic and as a humanitarian act.

THE ANTI-BILLBOARD CAMPAIGN.

A nation-wide movement, which gathers momentum as it goes, is working to curb and control all outdoor advertisements and it seems entirely probable that the anti-billboard campaign will end in success.

The effort to keep the roadsides unspoiled and prevent the marring of scenic beauty by unsightly and to some extent, dangerous sign boards is in full force throughout the United States. Several states have taken up the practical side of the problem and now propose to tax billboards.

A LAUDABLE AMBITION.

The oldest city in the United States is St. Augustine, in St. John County, Florida. It has attracted the attention of August Heckscher, a wealthy capitalist, who announces a unique program for that community.

He plans to make it one place "in which there would be no poverty, no preventable suffering, no unattended medical cases and no avoidable diseases."

That is certainly a very praiseworthy ideal. Should it not be the aim of our modern civilization to make it true of every city and county in this wealthy country?

'CHOOSE OUR BEST MEN.'

"The people of Georgia are not impoverished of men of intellect, business ability and skill in the formation and development of profitable public plans. Such men are operating with conspicuous success in all the enterprises of the state, outside of public legislation and administration. But the state needs them and their recognized abilities in the conduct of her business, which is vastly important to their own.

"The state's business is the people's business, and if they do not want it messed up by ignorance and mismanagement, they must take great care for the ability, fairness and loyalty of the men they choose to represent them in the general assembly. Bad legislation means poor administration, useless debts, high taxes and shame to the state's reputation.

"There are men in every county of the state who have a high degree of common sense of business skill and capacity to show legislative skill.

"Good strong business men in every county should have the public spirit to offer their services for the welfare of their county fellow-citizens and the state. When the people contrast such men with the small bore politicians, full of appetite and empty of ability, they will elect the right men with the same good judgment that they choose their banker or the executive of their estate after they pass on.

"There is a great house cleaning needed to be done in Georgia. It needs to be done without further delay. It will demand the unselfish services of the best men in the state to accomplish the needed betterments of the people's affairs and the people should not hesitate to demand that such men in their constituency should yield themselves to the public good. The time for the demand is now before the local and personal cliques takes charge of the primaries."

Just substitute "Mississippi" where "Georgia" is mentioned in the above editorial which appeared in the Atlanta Constitution a few days since, as it presents a faithful and striking parallel of present conditions in our own great state.

Georgia is to hold her State-wide election this year, while, unfortunately, Mississippi must wait nearly two years before her electorate will have an opportunity to indulge in a general house cleaning. Unless The Echo is misreading all signs, every honest and self-respecting voter in the State has already come to the conclusion that present conditions must and shall be corrected. The only way it may or can be accomplished is by the election of capable and honest public officials from governor down to beat constable.

POLITICAL REPENT-ANCE

In the sixth chapter of his epistle to the Hebrews the Apostle Paul said something to the effect that it is impossible for those who were once enlightened and have tasted, and been made partakers of the good things which are available, if they shall fall away, shall renew them again unto repentance.

Paul used a goodly number of words in expressing the thought, but this is the substance thereof, the meaning he contended to convey.

Applying the principle to approaching political affairs in Mississippi, why should those who were once enlightened partakers of good things be renewed unto repentance?

To be specific, why should persons who deserted the Democratic party in 1928, consorted with the enemy, or openly joined the enemy ranks, be permitted to take part in Democratic family affairs this year?

No reason at all—not even an excuse.

The principle enunciated by St. Paul is correct. The old Apostle to the Gentiles had a habit of being correct, for that matter.

They were once enlightened, but they followed off after false gods, and should not be "renewed unto repentance" until proof is conclusive that they are thoroughly repentant.

Furthermore, they must not repent with mere lip homage to the party they deserted, but as a verity in sackcloth and ashes.

Compel all the bolters, the so-called Hoovercrats, to stay on the mourner's bench until it is thoroughly proven that they have "come through," as they say at negro camp meetings.

As a matter of law, coldly written into the Mississippi statutes, party deserters have no right to participate in Democratic primaries this year.

Let the bolters, the deserters, the malcontents, whether of high or low degree, realize that membership in the Democratic party is a precious heritage, and must not be lightly tossed away.

Strikingly applicable to the question with which the Democratic state executive committee will soon be confronted is the Aesop fable about the man who picked up a frozen serpent by the roadside, placed it in his bosom, carried it home and placed it by the fire, and when thoroughly thawed out the reptile struck him with its poisonous fangs.

The Daily News harpoons to know there are some members of the Democratic state executive committee who are not real Democrats at heart; who believe in following the line of least resistance, who will urge that the doors be thrown open and all party sinners invited to return forthwith and immediately into the fold.

Political repentence of that sort is utterly worthless.

Apply the law as written. Keep the bolters out. Make them realize that Democracy in Mississippi is something more than a mere name.

In a word, keep them on the mourner's bench until they "come through."

BISHOP GEROW'S ARTICLES ON TRAVEL PRAISED

By Edgar S. Wilson

Jackson, Miss., March 16.—The series of articles written by Bishop Gerow of Natchez, published in four Sunday editions of that great newspaper just after returning from a trip around the world, were a source of interest and pleasure to those who had the opportunity of reading them. They hark back to the early days of history-making and lands "rich with the spoils of time."

Spain with her beautiful country and proud history was well described by the bishop, who concluded his description with these words: "If this is Spain, no wonder the people are happy and light-hearted; no wonder they sing and dance and enjoy the gentle climate that God has given them. No wonder its dauntless cavaliers fought bravely, perseveringly for seven hundred years to recover their lost country to the Moors."

Bishop Gerow brought us in spirit through Italy, so full of ancient grandeur; to Rome where religion had added a consecration to spots venerable in history. There we found the stones the Caesars trod, through halls filled with the achievements in art of Italy's giant minds, through St. Peter's the world's cathedral—"the noblest temple that human skill ever raised to honor the Creator."

Bishop Gerow brought us to Jerusalem, reminding us that it was "hallowed by so many sacred memories; alive now with moving forms of oriental visage and costume, the tall, gaunt, swarthy Jesus; once long ago upon its streets walked Jesus; here He healed the blind and consoled the sorrowing; here through its narrow way He carried His heavy cross; here He died; and here He rose again from the tomb." As He had foretold. Oh, Jerusalem, sacred indeed is the very ground on which you stand. Who can I understand the overpowering emotion of the Crusaders, when from the Mount of Olives, they got their first view of the Holy City, with what intense feeling they fell to their knees and raised their hearts to God!"

The bishop's articles were a pleasure to read and most inspiring. Such articles are welcome and do much good. They reminded us of the greatness of the past; of the majestic days of the Caesars, the embodiment of power without mercy; or the succeeding ages of Christian joy and sacrifice.

DR. HOOVER

A columnist remarks that "Mr. Hoover, like a good family doctor for the nation, says nothing or else says things that are encouraging. There is a great deal of value in that." Then Mr. Hoover must not be surprised if the nation, like a good many patients, snarls at him, snarls half of his medicine down the drain, and gets well in spite of him.—N. O. Item.

Sweden Demonstrates Reforestation Can Be Successfully Done.

Whenever forest protection, reforestation or the commercial production of timber is mentioned, there's almost always some one ready to point out that these things are impossible. Such statements are supported by nothing but ignorance. Apart from the fact that, in a region like South Mississippi, it would be impossible for some counties to remain habitable or solvent if the cover over land within them is not made to produce timber crops, the many successful demonstrations of profitable timber growing refute the contention.

Sweden is a splendid example of a timber growing nation. The forest laws there are very strict and the forests are so managed that they will never be exhausted. Sweden's forest based industries have no worry as to raw material. They are as stable as any other industry. A large part of the population of Sweden depends on a greater degree or lesser extent on the labor provided by the country's forests for their income. The value of Sweden's export of lumber and other forest products is more than half of all other exports combined.

Sweden has recently completed a National Forest Survey which occupied seven years' work and cost $400,000. The results show that Sweden's timber supply is permanent at the present rate of cutting. In other words, her timber is growing as fast or faster than it is being cut.

Sweden has what is probably the oldest saw mill in the world. This mill began its existence in 1225. This mill has occupied the same site and has been operated by the same family for more than 700 years.

The Swedes have developed the growth and manufacture of lumber into a highly scientific industry.

Their saw mill machinery is the fastest and most accurate in the world. According to A. H. Oxholm, head of the lumber division of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the United States, a gang saw was seen to cut up an eleven inch log 18 feet long in forty-five seconds with perfect accuracy.

Contrast the possibilities of growing timber in Sweden, close up to the Arctic Circle, with similar possibilities in South Mississippi. Contrast the rate of growth of European spruce and fir with that of our slash pine. There is no turpentine industry in Sweden, but our trees yield first gum and then lumber. What ever advantages, if any, Sweden may have in this matter of taxation and wages, it is never-the-less possible for our mills to compete successfully in the world lumber market with Sweden's mills.

South Mississippi will never see complete development or prosperity until all its non-agricultural land is producing timber crops. It remains to be seen whether South Mississippians have the vision and courage to make their idle lands yield as much and as sure wealth as Sweden's.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. McDonald and baby, of Deats, Miss., are guests of Mr. W. A. McDonald and family at their handsome villa on the beach front.

Mrs. W. A. Sigerson and little son Bert, who has recovered from a spell of illness, are spending a few days with their relative, Mrs. Louise Aimes at Ocean Springs.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Benedetto was christened on Sunday at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ingrassia.

A traveling agent from the State penitentiary was here during the week and took from the county jail the following named prisoners, recently convicted and sentenced by Judge Barrett at the setting of circuit court: Thomas Johnson, 2 years, David Moye, 2 1/2 years; Frank Fulco, 5 years; Jesse Smith, 3 1/2 years—all white but the last named.

A very pretty wedding was quietly celebrated on Thursday afternoon at the church of the Immaculate Conception, New Orleans, and one of local interest. The contracting parties were Mrs. Rosa Firpo-Cameron, widow of the late Hon. A. F. Cameron of Eugene Temple, well known and prominent planter and merchant of Assumption Parish, La., and a former resident of this city. The bride is best known for her graciousness of manner and has a charmed circle of friends and acquaintances, both here and in New Orleans. The groom is a young man of exemplary character and possessed of sterling and successful busin' ss qualifications. There is no man better known than he in the territory where he resided and Bay St. Louis welcomes his citizenship with open arms.

The little daughter of Mrs. (widow) Albert C. Beyer was christened a few days since and received into the Catholic faith. The sponsors were Hon. E. H. Hoffman of Bay St. Louis and Miss Edna Mize of Gulfport, and the name bestowed on the little one was Alberta Eugene.

Misses Louise Crawford, Jean Horton and Mildred Von Drozowsky have returned from a delightful trip to Mammoth Cave, Ky. The trip was one of much interest and can only be best appreciated by one whose privilege it has been to make the trip.

Mr. Alwyn Ansley has recently returned from St. Louis, Mo., and will spend a while here with home folks before returning to his duties.

Miss Judith Spotorno has returned from Marksville, La., where she visited at the home of relatives, Judge and Mrs. S. Allen Bordelon.

The remains of Sam Haas, former well known and highly esteemed resident of the Kiln, were brought to Bay St. Louis from Alton, La., Wednesday night for interment at the Kiln cemetery. The funeral took place Thursday from the residence of Mr. A. J. McLeod. Mr. Haas was killed from ambush, most foully murdered, and the finger of suspicion points to the guilty party. His apprehension, according to reports, seems only a question of time.

Mr. Burt Davis is home from Shreveport, La., on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Edith K. Davis and family in Carroll avenue.

Miss Thelma Zimmerman of Hinsdale, Ill., has been visiting her cousins, Misses Valmae, Erin and Marion Souder at the family home in Main Street.

Miss Mae Colson and cousin, Gladys Carson, returned home Wednesday night from Chattanooga, Tenn., where they spent weeks visiting relatives. From Chattanooga they took many side trips to nearby points and in all their trip was most enjoyable.

CHINESE TREES THRIVE

A Biloxi correspondent has the following to say concerning the suitability of soil and climate in Southern Mississippi for the growth of tung oil trees:

Some twenty years ago a few Chinese tung-oil trees were introduced in the United States. Some were set out in Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana. Three were planted here.

Today the cultivation of these trees has become an important agricultural pursuit.

Oil produced from the fruit of these trees is used in making varnishes, paints, oil cloth, linoleum, soaps, and weather-proof material for airplane wings.

Southern Mississippi has proved a suitable place for tung-oil trees, and the three original trees have become parents of hundreds of others.

Bear Pretty Flowers

The trees bear beautiful flowers in the early spring. In late summer the fruit reaches the size of a small apple, and in the early fall these drop to the ground. Inside the husk of the fruit are from three to five seeds.

When the fruit is ripe, it can either be gathered from the branches or shaken to the ground.

A bushel of the fruit yields 2.2 gallons of oil. A gallon of oil weighs about eight pounds, and it brings from 12 to 15 cents a pound at Pacific coast ports. At times the oil has sold as high as 50 cents a pound.

More than 100,000,000 pounds of tung-oil are imported to the United States from China each year. This is valued at more than $11,000,000.

Ink Is Product

Other products produced from the tung-oil fruit and its waste are fertilizer, lamp blank, "India" ink and a preservation for wood and paper. China for several centuries has been preserving its written works by means of this oil.

Speaking about boobs, what about the man who spends his money out of Bay St. Louis.

We are never sure that we are right, but we are honest in what we think.

It is much easier to borrow than to repay and the world will be better off when everybody realizes this fact.

As far as we know the old-fashioned gentlemen, who were opposed to woman suffrage ten years ago, are still opposed to it.

There are any number of citizens residing in certain larger cities who believe what they read about the spring training camps.

The average woman is interested in beauty, and thinks her own type the superior brand, no matter where she buys it.

Some men grumble over the size of their income tax and others wonder how rich they will feel when they have one to pay.

President Hoover is now discovering that everybody who talks patriotism is not unwilling to accept a job on the federal payroll.

There are still some people who think that Chinese don't know how to fight, regardless of the 2,000,000 men now under arms in that country.
